This year's meetings hold particular significance as we gather under the theme "Bringing the Appropriated Minimal Invasive Gynecologic Surgery to the Right Patient in the Right Setting in Africa". Our aim is to foster discussions and collaborations aimed at advancing the field of gynecologic endoscopy, particularly in the African context.

I encourage you to take full advantage of the opportunities for learning and networking provided at this conference. Engage with your colleagues, ask questions, share your experiences, and explore potential collaborations. Connect with fellow professionals, researchers, and industry representatives, forging new collaborations and partnerships to further our collective efforts in improving women's healthcare in Africa.

Your presence at the Annual Meetings is invaluable, and I believe that your insights and contributions will enrich our discussions and help drive positive change in the field of gynecologic endoscopy.

I eagerly anticipate your participation and look forward to welcoming you to the vibrant city of Zanzibar for what promises to be an enriching and inspiring event.

Foreword PRESIDENT OF THE CONGRESS

Dear ISGE and AGOTA members

It gives me a great pleasure to see all of you here in Zanzibar attending the Annual Meeting of the International Society for Gynecologic Endoscopy (ISGE). Zanzibar is beautiful island filled with the scent of clove, surrounded by Swahili culture and scenery with exciting natural environment and also the home of Serengeti and Ngorongoro National Parks in the mainland. Thank God for His protection on our physical, social, and mental health.

As ISGE celebrates its 37th Annual Meeting, we look back to its milestone of development and this congress serves as a platform for us to come together, learn from one another, and engage in meaningful discussions that will further enhance our understanding and practice in women's healthcare. The field of gynecology is constantly evolving, and it is through events like this that we can stay at the forefront of innovation and provide the best possible care for our women/patients.

The Government of the United Republic of Tanzania's unwavering focus and achievement in advancing women's health in the quest to attaining SDGs by 2030, ISGE in collaboration with AGOTA and Ministry of Health, Tanzania and Zanzibar, brings together global experts to network, learn, and exchange clinical experiences and research in the field of Gynaecology. In the next four days from today (21st - 24th May 2025) we shall participate in live gynaecological endoscopic surgeries, workshops, research presentations and several entertainments including tourism around the beautiful Island of Zanzibar.

The theme of the congress is " Bringing the appropriated Minimal Invasive Gynecologic Surgery to the right patient in the right setting in Africa."

This theme was prompted by the fact that, more efforts are needed to increase access for related services. It is my sincere hope that this conference will be educational to all of you and will encourage professional sharing and debate on crucial issues and equity in access to reproductive health services.

My colleagues, I wish you a fruitful ISGE 37th Annual General Meeting and I encourage each and every one of you to actively participate, network, and collaborate during this conference. Let us embrace this opportunity to exchange ideas, challenge existing paradigms, and inspire one another to strive for excellence in our profession.

Yours in service,

Matilda Ngarina.

ISGE SHORT INTRODUCTION

The International Society for Gynecologic Endoscopy - Promoting MIGS from Vaginal to Robotic and Beyond was formed in 1988 by a group committed endoscopists joined by others from all over the world. They recognized the need for a scientific group who would meet at regular intervals to share their knowledge and expertise in gynecologic endoscopy.

ISGE's goal is to establish an international forum for the exchange of information and new ideas between gynecologic endoscopists.

ISGE provides leadership and unprejudiced academic excellence in this highly important field, they promote safety and competence in gynecologic endoscopy through education and Training Programs around the globe and they scientifically investigate and evaluate new endoscopic techniques and procedures to support our members in supporting women's health everywhere.
